

The diagram illustrates a sequence of operations on a grid. The top part shows a sequence of red dots forming a pattern. Below this, a grid is divided into sections by horizontal and vertical lines. The grid contains 'x' marks and is colored with alternating blue and pink horizontal bands. The diagram illustrates a process where a sequence of operations (represented by the red dots) is applied to a grid, resulting in a specific pattern of 'x' marks.

